AMELIA JANE

Global Educator · Visionary Artist · Founder

Amelia Jane, an internationally recognised educator and visionary artist, Amelia has carved out a distinctive place within the world of contemporary hair — celebrated for her refined colour work, effortless aesthetic and unmistakable creative vision. As the founder of Milly The Space, Molly Vie and Amelia Jane Education, Amelia has built a reputation for refined artistry, innovative technique and an effortlessly elevated approach to hair.

With a signature aesthetic in luminous, multidimensional colour and understated luxury, Amelia is known for creating blondes that feel both striking and beautifully wearable. Her work is a considered balance of precision, creativity and commercial appeal — redefining what it means to create instantly recognisable hair.

Through her education platform, Amelia shares the techniques, philosophy and creative thinking behind her signature work. Her approach goes beyond colour alone, encompassing the complete creative process — from achieving luxurious, long-lasting blondes and mastering effortlessly undone styling, to creating authentic, aspirational content.

Amelia's educational experiences are immersive, collaborative and designed for professionals who want to elevate not only their technical ability, but their creative perspective and personal brand. She believes great hair should be intentional yet effortless, timeless yet relevant, and above all, unmistakably individual.

In each session, Amelia opens the door to her specialised approach to blonding — sharing the techniques behind those enviable, head-turning blondes, the details that transform good hair into exceptional hair, and the creative strategies that bring it all to life.

More than an education in hair, Amelia Jane Education is an invitation to see colour, creativity and the modern salon experience through a new lens, welcome to the world of Amelia Jane.
