Eufora National Trainer
Advanced Training Academy Instructor

Steve has been in the professional salon industry since 1976 and has been inspired by the likes of Paul Mitchell, Vidal Sassoon, John Sahag and Don Bewley. He started cutting friends' hair at seventeen and went on to attend Barber College in Los Angeles. Directly out of school he went to work behind the chair, and within two years he had his own salon. After six years he sold to a partner, but continued in the business and became an educator with Eufora in 2002. Following in the steps of those that have inspired him, Steve is now giving back to stylists and salon owners by traveling around North America to share his wisdom. A Master Barber, and highly skilled stylist, he has inspired thousands of stylists across North America with his passionate teaching style. Steve's involvement with Eufora International was a personal choice as he wanted to be with a company that did not just have great products, but quality people as well.
